Talbert House Celebrates Dads with a Free Event on Father's Day

Community Celebration promotes active, committed fathers

CINCINNATI—Greater Cincinnati families celebrated Father's Day at Sawyer Point at Talbert House's Fifth Annual Fatherhood Community Celebration. Thousands attended the free event featuring games and entertainment, arts and crafts, food and beverages, sports activities, and live music throughout the day.

Talbert House would like to thank the numerous volunteers and generous sponsors who made this event possible and a great success. Food and beverages were provided by LaRosa's, Ellenbee Leggett, Klosterman, Kroger, United Dairy Farmers, Cincinnati Vending Co., and Sunny Delight. The Home Depot provided arts and crafts for children.

Bands included Spearpoint, Floyd and the Walkmen, Deuces, and Hickory Robot. Cincinnati Reds Hall of Famer Rob Oester signed autographs and special guest appearances throughout the day included Big Boy, Who Dey, and the BenGals.

Talbert House is one of the city's leading advocates for promoting fatherhood. The Talbert House Fatherhood Project assists men in their efforts to become responsible, committed and nurturing fathers and is funded in part by the United Way of Greater Cincinnati. The event was co-chaired by John Silverman and Andrew Limke and sponsored in part by the Ohio Commission on Fatherhood.
