Talbert House honors Tevis Clark as Employee of the Year
Day, Jennison, Lawrence, Turner recognized as Outstanding Employees

CINCINNATI— Talbert House celebrated the hard work and dedication of its employees at its annual employee appreciation celebration held on January 12. Among the agency’s nearly 900 employees, Tevis Clark of Over-The-Rhine was honored as the 2016 Employee of the Year.

Tevis is a case manager at Spring Grove Center, a halfway house for adult male offenders. He started working at Talbert House in October 2015 and was promoted within his first year. During his annual evaluation, Tevis received one of the highest scores at the agency. He stands out, taking the initiative to get things done with a positive attitude, going above and beyond by engaging with clients and creating activities such as a Sunday morning fitness walk. He has a client approach that is consistent, firm, and fair. Tevis is a leader for the clients and staff as well. His commendable work ethic, flexibility, and accomplishments earned Tevis the Employee of the Year award.

Also recognized as Outstanding Employees of 2016 were Pat Day of North College Hill, Casey Jennison of Edgewood, Gregory Lawrence of Colerain Township, and Tori Turner of West End.

“Each year we honor incredible men and women who have shined brightest over the past year,” said Neil Tilow, President and CEO. “I’m proud of all our staff who work diligently to provide quality services to the thousands of clients we serve throughout Southwest Ohio. It is a privilege to work with a team who truly wants to make a difference and change lives.”
