Phillips Edison gets in the holiday spirit for Talbert House
Diaper drive benefits clients during the holidays

CINCINNATI— The employees at Phillips Edison made a generous gift of 24,000 diapers and 2,000 baby wipes to Talbert House’s Holiday Giving campaign. The donations were collected across three offices during the company’s Holiday Building Competition, in which teams constructed themed miniature golf holes in hopes of being named most creative, while collecting their diaper donations.

Phillips Edison Financial Analyst and the event’s organizer, Nathan Hall says, “The Holiday Building Competition is a perfect opportunity for the associates of Phillips Edison and Company to use their creative and competitive nature to give back to the community. It is our pleasure to do what little we can to help when there is a need.”

This is the fourth year for this event and the third year Phillips Edison has held this diaper drive in support of Talbert House and its clients.
