Despite an ongoing opiate epidemic, a mounting mental health crisis and the COVID-19 pandemic, Talbert House remained committed to the mission of empowering children, adults and families to live healthy, safe and productive lives.

The Agency served 21,000 clients through direct service and 96,000 through hotline and prevention services during the past year. President and CEO Neil Tilow calls the Agency’s response to the coronavirus our biggest accomplishment. In a letter to stakeholders Neil writes, “With a focus on 10 key strategies all geared to maintaining client care and the safety of staff and clients, we quickly implemented telehealth, secured PPE, reduced expenses and identified funding streams.”

Talbert House recognizes staff, board members, supporters and community partners for our hard work and dedication to building a stronger community.

Paradise was closer to home at Talbert House’s 11th annual Bang Bang in Paradise. Taking place August 21 through August 23, 279 meals from Bonefish Grill in Hyde Park were made “To-Go” through Paradise Party Packs which were purchased online and safely picked up curbside.

Over $30,000 was raised benefiting Talbert House services which empower children, adults and families to live healthy, safe and productive lives. This annual event was made possible thanks to Bonefish Grill – Hyde Park and many generous sponsors including Big Kahuna sponsors Fifth Third Bank, Hutcheson Homecare Pharmacy and Mercy Health and Paradise sponsor Horan.

Making Camp Possible at Home

Make Camp Possible raised over $70,000 on November 20, 2020 through take-home adventures. With the money raised more than 40 children will be able to attend Camp Possible, an individualized, therapeutic-based summer program for children ages 6-13 living with behavioral health challenges, at no cost next summer.

The Make Camp Possible committee, chaired by Scot Feldmeyer and Kristin O’Brien, pivoted from an in-person event by providing camp-themed take-home meals from The Phoenix. The adventure theme continued with a Taste of Cincinnati Raffle that included multiple gift cards to local restaurant favorites and the Adventure Awaits Auction provided lucky bidders with an adventure of their own.

Thanks to our generous sponsors and donors, campers can attend Camp Possible at no cost. Sponsors include Fifth Third Bank, Mrs. Robert D. Stern, Myriad Neuroscience, Ohio Capital Impact Corporation, USI Insurance Services and many more. Hosts were Josh and Julie Arnold, Stacy Cole and Neil Fairweather, Scot and Jen Feldmeyer, Carter and Stephanie Gaither, Genoa Healthcare Telepsychiatry, Midwest Mechanical Systems and Dan and Corinne Phillips.
Virtual Fatherhood Celebration

On October 15, the Hatton Foundation presented the 12th annual Fatherhood Celebration. The event supports the Talbert House Fatherhood Project, a program that assists men in their efforts to become responsible, committed and nurturing dads. Demetrius Dallas, Tom Otten and George Schaefer were all recognized as Fathers of the Year. The virtual event also featured John Brannen, head coach for men’s basketball at the University of Cincinnati.

Usually hosted as a luncheon, the event is an annual fundraiser allowing Talbert House to provide services at no charge to fathers. Due to COVID-19, this year’s event was held virtually via an online video featuring the 2020 Fathers of the Year, a Q&A with the keynote and an update on the Fatherhood Project.

The event raised over $230,000 for Talbert House’s Fatherhood Project. The Hatton Foundation, Fifth Third Bank, Midland Atlantic Properties, PLK Communities, The Marge & Charles J. Schott Foundation and Cintech Construction were among a long list of generous sponsors.

Talbert House Ambassadors

Presented and sponsored by 1st Call Disaster Services, the event raised over $9,000 in support of Talbert House’s efforts to provide safe and affordable housing across Southwest Ohio.
